Each party that has submitted memoranda in support of or in opposition to a motion for summary judgment in the above cases is directed to submit to the Court a synopsis of each memorandum it has filed (the “Synopsis”). The Synopsis shall be a concise—no more than five pages in length—narrative summary of the positions the party takes in the corresponding memorandum.¹ To be clear, every memorandum submitted regarding the ¹This will not serve as a substitute for the parties’ memoranda. The Court will refer to all of the memoranda submitted in support of or in opposition to summary judgment for the complete arguments of the parties.

summary judgment motions (whether a supporting, responsive, or reply memorandum) shall have a corresponding Synopsis.² The Synopses shall be submitted to the Court by July 22, 2005.

Dated: July 13, 2005

RICHARD H. KYLE
United States District Judge

²The Synopsis should be prepared as if there was in fact a five page limitation with respect to the memoranda filed with the Court—in effect, the parties are directed to make their arguments in five pages or less.
